

James Steele

Chemeketa Community College

My name is James Steele. I am 36 years old and the father of two teenage sons. I graduated from McNary High School in 1991. Currently in my second year at Chemeketa Community College, I am perusing my associate degree in geomatics.

My goal for the short term after graduation is become gainfully employed, and for the first time in my life love my work. In the long term, I will further my education at the university level, as I pursue a degree civil engineering.

I am excited to be back in school. I thrive on the challenges as they have been all that I hoped they would be. Completing my education has been a dream of mine for many years.

I am truly grateful to the APWA for this gift.
